LIST OF BOOKS	237
LIST OF ARTICLES AND SHORTER WORKS	249
JESUIT STAFF WRITERS AND EDITORS	290

PLINY ONCE WROTE to Suetonius Tranquillas, "I am myself a good deal backward in publishing, but your slowness and hesitancy are more than a match for mine." This 2000-year-old remark may sound strangely familiar even if you have forgotten all about Pliny and never knew anything at all about Suetonius Tranquillas. Writers need encouragement. ". . . As much as crops rain," in the words of Gerard Manley Hopkins.

Thus this list. It provides a rough measurement of the creative climate in the Society of Jesus in America. It is also meant to improve that climate. So we sincerely congratulate our creative people and only wish there were more of them.

The list was put together for the most part from the list of published works sent annually by the Fathers Socius to the librarian of the Society, the results of which are published in the Index Bibliographicus Societatis Jesu. Entries without province identification refer either to Jesuits outside of the American Assistancy or to those whose provinces we were unable to ascertain before our deadline was upon us. We have used every means available to insure accuracy and thoroughness, but we will be greatly surprised if there is not something left to be desired on both counts.

The compiling has been done by Jesuit Writers Service, a still-experimental agency with the task of assisting Jesuits throughout the world who want to publish in America. Among the first eighteen books JWS has successfully handled, one book was from Italy, one from the Philippines, and one from Argentina.

If you are thinking of writing a book this year, Jesuit Writers Service is set up to help you . . .

- . . . plan a book that is publishable
- . . . test your plan before you write
- . . . evaluate your finished manuscript
- . . . choose the appropriate publisher or agent
- . . . judge the fairness of your contract
- . . . (we also handle non-scientific articles)

There are no fees (as yet). JWS is supported by all the U.S. Provincials.
